A Thought for Today About running away

by
Dr. Johnny R. Almond

“There is no problem so big or complicated that it can’t be run away from.”
- Graffiti, London

When “everything nailed down in the world is coming loose,” what’s a believer to do?

One thing’s for sure – circumstances may be shaky ground, but trusting souls stand on Solid Rock.

Synthetic foundations – prestige, materialism, pleasure – all crumble ... they’re papier-mâché compared to Christ.

Running anywhere except to God’s heart is a useless exercise – with heavenly help available, faith takes refuge in God.

It’s futile to try to run away from reality ... it’s more fulfilling to run toward Reality – praying our way through trouble, not out of it.

“I’ve already run for dear life straight to the arms of GOD.
So why should I run away now when you say, ‘Run to the mountains’?”
(Psalm 11:1 THE MESSAGE)
